Excellence rewards; badge is not enough! —

“From 1990 to 1999, the publicly traded recipients of the Baldrige Award, as a group, outperformed the Standard & Poor's 500 by 4.2 to 1, achieving a 685.26% return compared to a 163.11% return for the S&P 500” - Scott Madison Paton.

— An obvious testimony to excellence if one was ever needed!

ICHA today comprises all the major associations of Medical (Clinical, Lab, Admin), Nursing, Pharmacy, Therapy, Consumers, Management and Architects (28 Associations). There are over 250 individual experts and organisations called affiliates with diverse expertise in all areas of Healthcare. ICHA has the resource capability of being the “one - stop - shop” for healthcare delivery improvement by institutions and healthcare providers. Please refer attached brochure for more information on ICHA & view details on ICHA web page www.indmedica.com/icha.

ICHA believes in a solutions approach instead of the traditional 'fault finding and correction' approach resulting in well known responses to inspection and audit. We believe every professional institution has a unique strength and creative force to offer. By nurturing and sharing this pool of excellence, we will universally benefit and grow, ICHA encourages inclusive participation.
